We help you anticipate risk

From the courtroom to the boardroom, attorneys face risk every day. It can't be avoided, but it can be effectively managed and minimized. CNA coverages brought to you by Jamison are continually being refined and expanded. We frequently improve our risk management tools and services for IP firms to help you better assess your potential risks and liabilities and manage them efficiently and effectively.

As part of that goal, we offer risk management help by telephone and online. You can call an independent, completely confidential risk management advisory service toll-free from anywhere in the country. Staffed by professional risk management consultants from the Practicing Attorneys Liability Management Society (PALMS), the Hotline lets you ask questions, pose "what ifs" and gain clarification on nearly any liability issue, even before any claim has been filed.

Our online Risk Management Toolkit—available at www.lawyersinsurance.com—helps you anticipate the unique risks encountered during every stage of client contact and gives you the resources that you can use to proactively manage them.

We're dedicated to defending your interests

Jamison and CNA are among the most experienced service providers in the IP arena. If a claim is made against you, we will provide highly-responsive, professional service. As a matter of policy, CNA will always:

- Investigate claims thoroughly
  - Pay meritorious claims promptly and fairly
  - Defend claims without merit vigorously
- We understand that protecting your practice is not only good for your business, it forms the foundation of ours.

We'll be here when you need us

While many companies providing professional liability coverage for legal professionals have come and gone, Jamison and CNA have continually served the legal profession with dedicated products and services for more than 80 years combined. We cover private practices, individuals and patent agents. Furthermore, we have the experience, history and commitment you can count on for years to come.
